

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

WHITE PLAINS.

A convention of the National Democratic party of the 11d Assembly District will be held at Moran's Hall, in this village, next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Member of the Assembly and to elect delegates for the Judicial and Congress conventions. The call is signed by H. B. Stapler, chairman, and C. H. Morton, secretary, and is issued in accordance with the plan of campaign agreed upon among the Sound Money Democrats of this county, which it is proposed to nominate candidates for all the offices to be filled at the coming election. The will of John Ann Hanford was read in the presence of the judges and the jury. She was a resident of the town of New-Rochelle, where she died on August 11. The will, which disposed of property valued at $20,000 and real estate valued at $10,000, was executed October 7, 1878. Minnie A. Hanford and Amelia A. Sturges, daughters, are beneficiaries, and Mrs. Hanford is appointed executrix.

On account of the entries for the horse show not being satisfactory, the number, that part of the County Fair, which begins next Monday, has been abandoned. In place of the horse show a number of special attractions have been secured, among others May Stewart and her educated horse, Saperling, German's troupe of Japanese acrobats, Roy See, the boy bicycle wonder, and others. The small track where the horse show has heretofore been held will be given up to the show of the fair, and the fair will be held on the same grounds.

Notice of a contest of the will of David Horton, who died last summer, has been filed in the Surrogate's Court. The contestant is Louis P. Horton, one of the heirs-at-law and next of kin. The grounds upon which the contest is made are that the instrument is not the last will and was not his free and voluntary act, that at the time it was made he was insane, and that the paper was not subscribed, published and attested as his last will.

Two wills have been presented for probate in the Surrogate's Court, each purporting to have been the last will of Lemuel Horton, who died in 1884. The first, dated September 28, 1884, is offered by the executor, the Second, dated June 15, 1885, is offered by August Schwarzkopf, executor. Both wills dispose of property amounting to $50,000, in the same way, it being alleged that the only difference being in the names of the executors.

In the County Court yesterday the jury in the trial of Lemuel Horton, indicted for assault in the first degree in shooting a man named Palmer at Larchmont last summer, brought in a verdict of acquittal. The case of the colored man, indicted for assault in the first degree, at Larchmont, in August, 1885, was dismissed.

WOODLANDS.

The lake in the Woodlands, on the property which was formerly the home of Cyrus W. Field, was drained yesterday, the water being allowed to flow into the Sawmill River. There was a leak in the dam which needed repairs, and in addition to that, the fishing in the lake, which is now part of the hotel property, has greatly deteriorated, owing to the large number of black bass, with which the lake had been stocked. When the water had been drained most of the bass were taken out and placed in tanks, pending the refilling of the lake, the water of which comes from the Pocantico Hills. Harry Lipman, the State Fish Protector for the Westchester district, was present to look after the lake, and C. G. Skourie, treasurer at Dolbeare's, who has charge of the hotel property, gave a clambake to celebrate the occasion, a large number of guests being present.

PEEKSKILL.

On Tuesday night Archbishop Corrigan, accompanied by his secretary, Father James Connelly, came to Peekskill, and on Wednesday he consecrated the new Catholic cemetery. The exercises started at 9 o'clock in the morning and continued until 1 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Corrigan, in the presence of the clergy and the people, presided over the ceremony, and the reading of the litany of the saints and the pontifical prayers. The new cemetery is situated on the corner of the old Peekskill and the new Peekskill, and is a beautiful place.
